

Press release / June 2019

Division one is “Headhunter of the Year 2019”

Personnel Consultancy from Stuttgart Honored for Outstanding Achievements as a Globally Active Executive Search Consulting Service

Stuttgart, Germany, June 12, 2019. In the executive search category, division one has been honored with the “Headhunter of the Year” award. According to the jury, the company has successfully positioned itself as an executive search specialist within the non-transparent personnel consultancy market. Furthermore, division one has verifiably and sustainably established itself as an excellent consultancy firm. The quality seal has been awarded by the career service Experteer on June 6, 2019, in Bayerischer Hof in Munich, Germany.

With the “Headhunter of the Year” award, the best personnel consultancies in Germany are honored for outstanding achievements in five different categories: executive search, best newcomer, candidate experience, client experience and innovation. Christoph Stichel, managing partner at division one: “The Award places special emphasis on high quality standards, thought leaders and innovative personnel consultancies. Therefore, we are particularly proud of having received the award in the supreme discipline of executive search.”

An expert jury with representatives from the media as well as from science and economy evaluated the submissions. The following items were observed by the jury with particular attention: capability and success rate, success story and sustainable business development, customer focus, assurance of consultant qualification as well as management of international mandates. According to the expert jury’s opinion, the winners in the executive search category have recognized market trends, and have adjusted and successfully implemented their company strategy accordingly.
